

agnese gianfranco frattini

Tacchini collaborated with the Gianfranco Frattini Archivio to bring back to life one of Frattini's most representative designs: the armchair 849, which received big interest during the Compasso d'Oro in 1956. Presented today with a new name, Agnese, the armchair is produced in a very accurate way and with extreme fidelity to the original design. The ash wood structure has different finishes whilst the shell, the backrest and the armrest finished with sartorial seams come together in harmonious combination. Moreover, following from Frattini's original project, the armchair is accompanied by a matching ottoman.

materials:

Upholstery with ash wood frame in lacquered walnut or grey.

dimensions;

chair: 33" x 30" x 28-3/4"ht 17-3/8"sh

ottoman: 22-1/2" x 20" x 16-1/2"ht