

archer archermen

Archer air superiority is a high end line of quality room spray. It skews masculine in its scent inspirations, but has proven to be just as appealing to women as it is to men. A welcome option within a product category that has only offered flowers, ladybugs and honey suckle dreamscapes. Archer air superiority uses a safe water based solution and an environmentally friendly nitrogen based propellant. Three scents available, European Sports Car, Distillery and Hunting Lodge. It may not be a man's world but it can smell like one.

materials

European Sports Car, worn leather, excessive horse power and a hint of after shave. Bold, handsome and perhaps a little over confident at 140 mph.

Distillery, charred oak, sour mash and enough bourbon to kill an elephant. Warm and inviting but what isn't at 80 proof.

Hunting Lodge, hearth stone, gunpowder and damp timber. It smells like it did 120 years ago, because it hasn't changed in 120 years, other than the flat screen and microwave.
