

copper pendants tom dixon

Copper is created by exploding a thin layer of pure metal onto the surface of a polycarbonate globe. The sphere gets squashed and then stretched to create a new pair of complementary forms in the trademark mirrored copper, allowing new clusters to be formed, lower ceilings to be illuminated or narrow corridors to be colonised by the Copper family.

materials:

copper plated metal

