

piña outdoor jamie hayon

Piña was born of the desire to create a new seating concept, combining comfortable woven steel rods with solid wooden legs. With the weight of the seated body, the rods create a distinctive "capitonné effect" on the back of the cushion, adding to the very special character of this design.

materials:

Frame in steel tube, Seat in steel rod, both cataphoretically treated and painted in polyester powder.

dimensions:

