

sheLLf ka-lai chan

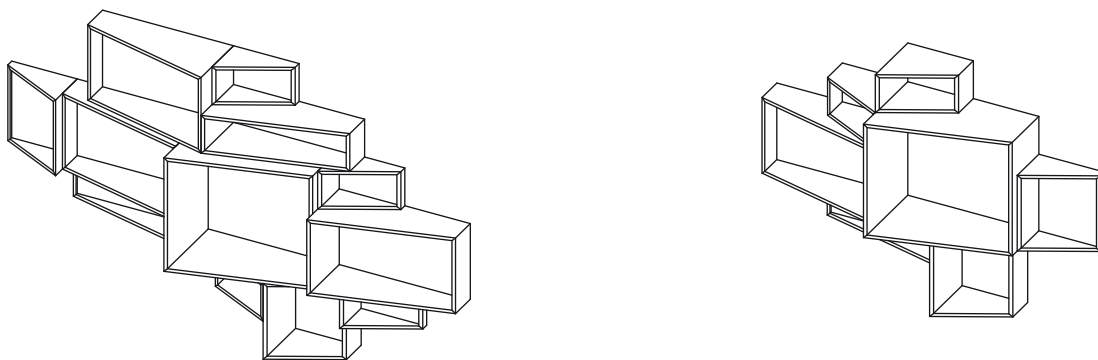

It is a path out of the ordinary that has characterised SheLLf bookcases. What was founded as a limited edition sculpture, a true work of art, turned into a modern furniture series, thanks to the meeting between the designer and the technology adopted by Kristalia. A combination of rectangular compartments of various forms, made of Medium Density Fibreboard (MDF), with a lacquered finish and connected with invisible seams at 45 °, make this modern bookcase a recognisable icon. The visual effect is dynamic and organic; recalling the act of an animal that comes out of its shell. The external finish of the furniture is painted white but inside it is possible to characterise it in four colour variations. The name of the bookcase, SheLLf, is a fusion of linguistic and conceptual “shell” which means shell and “shelf” shelf. The cubic element, typical of bookcases, is dissected; the form that results is a set of movements and bold cuts that makes the furniture an object of modern design.
