

tony atelier biagetti

Tony is a radical system of modular seating composed of spherical elements of different dimensions that can be combined together giving rise to an infinite series of combinations, thanks to the assembly of the various parts which is possible through a system of special stops. The sensual shapes of the different elements – which multiply on a different scale, reshaping themselves from large poufs to small cushions – are highlighted by the unique weave of the fabric that characterizes the covering, giving the surfaces an unexpected touch. Available in a range of metallic and iridescent colors, quilted with a precious relief labyrinth-like design, Tony is an original seating system, designed for the most dynamic and transversal environments.
