

valentina chair alejandra gandia-blasco

Valentina is a collection inspired by 'haute couture' dress embroidery that recalls the classical high fashion patterns featuring the traditional stitch-bonding technique, applied here to a rug handmade by crafts men and women. It features a chair that consists of an inclined three-dimensional version of the rug: a frame supports the cushions, one flat and the other inclined, upholstered with removable covers that continue the idea of embroidered seams. The two pieces can be combined or equally can be used separately. Strip the cushions from the metal frame and use them on the carpet or simply as an accessory for any interior space.
