

boiaccia lucidi pevere

The appeal of the Boiaccia table is in its rough raw material, starting with its name, which in the building sector refers to a fluid mixture of cement. Its slightly uneven surface, in this unusual raw material for the design field, expresses traditional material quality and top design, for either indoors or outdoors. With a special formula and stainless steel reinforcements, the outcome is neither heavy nor rigid but visibly light, elegant and subtle. Each Boiaccia table is unique and made in a limited edition: a value-added detail for this design project.
